7.

Henry, I'm going to drop you off at the library and come back in two hours. I have to go to the bank and run some errands. So stay in the library until I come back to pick you up.

Q. Where is Henry's mom going to go?

Answer: (A)

Part 2

Listen to a conversation and answer the question.
Fill in the correct circle on your answer sheet.

Let's do an example.

8.

G: Hi, Mike. Where are you going?

B: I'm going to the music room to practice for my piano recital.

G: Oh, when is it?

B: It's this Friday evening in the school auditorium. You can come if you are free.

Answer: (B)

9.

B: Excuse me, how many stops are there left until Wilford subway station?

M: There are three more stops to get there. It will take about 10 minutes.

B: Thank you very much.

M: You're welcome.

Answer: (B)

10.

G: Excuse me, Mrs. Hill. Do you have time?

T: Certainly. What is it?

G: I wrote a book report for our next assignment, but I am not sure whether I did it right. Do you think you will have some time to proofread it before the due date?

T: Of course. Why don't you bring it tomorrow? We can look it over together.

Answer: (A)

11.

B: Mom, Jason is having a party tomorrow night. Can I go?

M: You may, but only if you finish all your homework before the party.

B: Thanks. Can you also drive me there and pick me up?

M: OK. Let me call Jason's mom for directions.

Answer: (C)

12.

B: Ms. Lee, we are short on safety goggles.

T: How many extras do you need?

B: I think about 5 more.

T: I will check my cabinet and get you some.

Answer: (B)

13.

G: Did you get a new baseball cap, Tommy?

B: Yeah, my dad got it for me yesterday. How do I look?

G: You look nice. You really like baseball caps, don't you?

B: Yeah, I love them. They look cool.

Answer: (C)

14.

M: Excuse me, this card fell out of your purse.

W: Oh! Thank you very much. I must have dropped it when I was paying for my groceries.

M: No problem, but you should be more careful next time.

W: Thanks for the advice.

Answer: (B)

Part 3

Listen and answer the question.

Fill in the correct circle on your answer sheet.

Let's do an example.

15.

M: Hi, Mrs. Kim. The new refrigerator you ordered is now in stock. I can deliver it to you this afternoon. Will you be home between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m.? I'm going to install the new one and pick up your old refrigerator as you requested.

Answer: (A)

16.

M: Hi, Jessica. It's Jim. I think we are almost there. We just passed King's Street, but I don't see a big sign that says Chang's Garden Restaurant. Can you tell me where I should go from here?

Answer: (B)

20.

B: Hi, Jake. It's Michael. I know our big test is next Friday, but I lost my paper that said what I should study for the test. Can you tell me what to study if you are free now? If not, I hope you can email it to me by this evening. Thanks.

Answer: (C)

21.

G: Hi, Mom. It's Susie. My class is finished, and it's raining outside. I forgot to bring an umbrella like you told me to this morning. Can you come and pick me up? I'm sorry for not listening to you.

Answer: (B)

22.

M: Hi, Dr. Robins. It's Henry. I had my decayed tooth fixed last week, but I still feel some pain when I chew food. Can I come in tomorrow for a check-up? Thank you.

Answer: (A)

M: Hi, Mr. Lively. This is Luke Collins from Anytime Communication. We are offering a new package of products at a low monthly rate. If you sign up now for Internet, telephone, and cable TV altogether, we will give you a 50 percent discount off our normal monthly rate.

Answer: (B)

18.

B: Hi, Mom. It's Sam. When are you coming home? James is not listening to me. I told him he could only have 2 cookies, but he's eaten 4 already. His room is messy, so I told him he should clean his room, but he is watching TV now. I think you should talk to him.

Answer: (C)

19.

G: Hi, Lucy. It's Amy. I just came back from my family trip, and I got some souvenirs for you. If you are free, can you come over to my house now? I can also show you some funny photos I took on my trip.

Answer: (B)

Part 4

Listen to a story about Joyce.

M: Joyce went fishing with her dad. She was very excited because she had never gone fishing before. Her dad helped her get set up. "How will I know when a fish eats my worm?" Joyce asked while she was holding her fishing rod. "You will see your float move up and down slowly. When it descends, then you pull up on your fishing rod," her dad replied, showing her how to do it. Two hours had passed, but there was no sign of any fish. Joyce started to get tired and bored. "I'm bored, Dad," Joyce said with a tired look on her face. "Be patient. Fishing is not an easy thing to do. Why don't you check to see if the worms are still hooked on your rod?" Joyce was about to pull her fishing rod out of the water when she saw her float move up and down. "Look, Dad. My float is moving," she whispered to her dad. Then the float descended instantly, and Joyce quickly tried to pull up her fishing rod. "Wow, it's very strong. Help me Dad!" she shouted. Joyce's dad held the fishing rod high in the air. There was a big fish caught on the hook. "Wow! You've caught the biggest fish in this area," other men who were fishing cheered for her. "What do you want to do with the fish?" Joyce's dad asked. "I'm going to let it go. I think it should live here."

Then she gently unhooked the fish and let it fly back to the water. That evening, Joyce told her mom how fun fishing was, and her mom was proud that Joyce freed the fish.

Listen to a story about April.

W: It was Mother's Day. April wanted to get a present for her mom. "There isn't enough money in my piggy bank. I can't buy anything with this amount of money," April said sadly. "Since I don't have enough money to buy anything for her, I will make something special for her." April got out her sketchbook and her crayons from the drawer. She drew her family and put happy smiles on each person in her family. Then she got out some colored paper and made red flowers. She also used her green paper to make some leaves and stems. "Mom, happy Mother's Day!" April shyly gave her mom the family portrait and the paper flower bouquet. Her mom was very surprised and pleased. "Wow, this is the prettiest flower bouquet I have ever seen, and you drew our family so nicely! I'm going to frame this." April was very glad when she saw her mom's big smile at her presents.

Listen to a teacher giving a science lesson.

T: We are going to talk about heat today. What is heat? It is a type of energy that makes you feel hot. For example, if you are having hot cocoa, and you touch the mug, you will feel heat from the mug. Why is that? That's because your hands absorb energy from the mug.

31. (A)      32. (A)      33. (B)

Listen to a teacher in a classroom.

T: A long time ago, people didn't have any cell phones or even cable phones at home. However, they had their way of communicating with others over long distances. How was it possible? Samuel Morse invented something called the telegraph. The telegraph is a device that people can use to communicate with each other by using electronic dots and dashes. The telegraph operators would tap keys to spell out the message, and the receiver would listen to the dots and dashes to translate the coded message.

34. (A)      35. (A)      36. (B)

Listen to a teacher in a classroom.

T: Today we are going to talk about respect. Can anyone tell me what respect means?

G: To treat others nicely?

T: That's good. What about you, Kevin?

B: To show others a feeling of admiration?

T: Very good. When someone respects you, it means the person considers you important and special. Can you give me an example of how to respect others?

G: Using polite words when talking to others?

T: That is a very good answer. What else?

B: Not calling others bad names or playing bad tricks on them?

T: Your answers are all great. It is important to respect others because we all come from different backgrounds. Also, our personality and personal interests will not be exactly the same as others. We should try to understand each other and be open-minded. Don't treat others badly just because others seem different than you. Accept others and be a good listener. Once you respect others first, then you will see others showing respect to you, too.
